

Weekly Work Memo
January 7, 2013-January 11, 2013

Timothy Sandole
Belfer Center Associate/Campus Wikipedian

Monday, January 7

- A Wikipedian with only an IP address for an identity deleted the majority of my work on the Pakistani WMD Wiki page. I added 5,626 bytes of information, and 5,519 bytes were deleted. This is what is left of my work, which is under the Heading, "Doctrine":
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Pakistan_and_weapons_of_mass_destruction#Doctrine
The Wikipedian stated, "No need to add Indian propaganda and 'fear mongering' type paragraphs into this article," which makes me believe that this individual is from Pakistan. Will discuss with Sara and Jim what to do about this next week (4 hours)
- U.S. Grand Strategy research (4 hours)

Tuesday, January 8

- U.S. Grand Strategy research, followed by writing first draft on MS Word (7 hours)
- Meeting with Peter Bacon and Ben Rhode for more Pakistani WMD scholastic material (1 hour)

Wednesday, January 9

- Finished draft. Sent U.S. Grand Strategy Wikipedia draft page to Jim Smith for review (8 hours)

Thursday, January 10

- Published Grand Strategy Wiki page. Contribution can be found here:
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Grand_strategy#Primacy_vs._Selective_Engagement (3 hours)
- Started researching India's Cold Start doctrine (5 hours)

Friday, January 11

- Continued researching Cold Start doctrine and completed a preliminary first draft for Wikipedia (8 hours)
